However, my passion and interest lay in computer science and technology. Despite their concerns and the pressure to choose a traditional field, I had a heartfelt discussion with my parents about my aspirations and long-term goals. I explained my enthusiasm for software development and the opportunities it offered in the rapidly evolving digital landscape. After much deliberation and persuasion, my parents eventually supported my decision to pursue computer science. Fast forward to today, it's been over 10 years since I embarked on my journey as a software developer.
